Mongolian Standard Version, Bible Translation in Mongolia

Overview

This project aims to meet the demand for a new Mongolian translation that is easier to understand for both readers and listeners.

The project seeks to produce an exemplary translation in Mongolian and to have strong impact among Mongol-speakers around the world. Started in 2015, the translation is projected for completion in 2027.

The Need

The population of Mongolia is three million, which includes approximately 65,000 Christians.

Mongolia uses the Khalkh dialect in all its official documents and all Mongolians understand this main dialect. With literacy rates of over 95 per cent, most Mongolian people can read and write the Khalkh dialect.

A translation that is more understandable and naturally flowing in this dialect has been greatly needed for many years now, as expressed by church leaders and believers.

This translation has the potential of being widely used in all Protestant as well as Catholic and Russian Orthodox churches in Mongolia (Catholic and Russian Orthodox churches are members of our Bible Society).

Project Goal

This project aims to contribute to, and even fulfil, Bible Society's mission of providing the Bible in written form to every Mongolian family.

This project was launched to improve the Bible translation quality and establish an exemplary standard in Bible translation in Mongolia.

As of 2021, over 40 per cent of the project has been completed. The translators are now up to the Old Testament Prophets and Wisdom writings.

This is a 14-year project, with portions of the Bible to be released for consultation and review throughout the process. The near-final translations will be made accessible to readers as soon as possible through the project website. This will help in receiving immediate feedback and in encouraging the Scripture engagement aspect of the project.

Impact

Mongolian Christians will be able to read the Bible with greater ease and comprehension.

The newly translated version will benefit not only Mongolia but has the potential to be used by 5 million Khalkh speakers around the world, mainly in China and Russia.
